

Call for Volunteers: Support for Homeless Persons in Delhi

We invite students to volunteer for a meaningful initiative under the ICMR-funded project (RP-062) at IHBAS. The project aims to screen for psychiatric morbidity among the homeless population in Central and East Delhi and explore the psychosocial determinants and needs of this vulnerable group.

Volunteer Roles:

- Community outreach, engagement, and psychosocial support.

Eligibility Criteria:

- Postgraduate and Undergraduate students in Psychology, Public Health and Social Work/Social sciences.

Commitment:

- Minimum 2–3 hours per week (flexible schedule).
- No monetary compensation will be provided.

Benefits to Volunteers:

- Hands-on experience in community mental health and research.
- Opportunity to contribute to a high-impact public health initiative.
- Experience certificate from the Principal Investigator.

Interested?

Contact:

- Phone: 9706514299
- Email: arifalipsw@gmail.com

Join us in making a difference—your support can change lives!

Dr Arif Ali, PI

Associate Professor

IHBAS, Delhi-95

for uploading in the website.
Arif